DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 7 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 7, a claim scope of “consisting essentially of” is set forth. However, in the oxidizer part, a scope of “comprising” is recited. These differing scopes are in conflict, e.g., inconsistent, whereby the ultimate scope of the claims is indefinite.

Claim 8 includes terminology regarding MAK and TLV values, these terms are variable and thus render the claim indefinite. Also, note that since these represent industry standards, they are subject to change over time.

4. Claims 8, 14, and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. There is no basis in the specification for the exclusion of chlorates or perchlorates.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 7, 8, and 13-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Poole (5035757) in view of McCulloch (3725154).

Poole discloses a gas generating composition comprising a) aminotetrazole including 5-aminotetrazole, b) peroxides, c) alkaline earth metal nitrates, and d) carbonates (col. 5 and 6). Note that Applicant's claims do not require the reducing agent or coolant since the claim limitation recites "up to" which includes zero.

McCulloch teaches that it is known to use ferrocene as a catalyst in a gas generating composition (col. 3, lines 15-30).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the ferrocene as taught by McCulloch since McCulloch suggests that it is desirable to include ferrocene as a catalyst in gas generating compositions in order to control the burn rate and since Poole discloses that burn rate is a variable that is desired to control (col. 3, lines 59-63). It is also obvious to vary the amounts of the fuel and oxidizers in order to optimize the performance of the gas generating composition. It is well-settled that optimizing a result effective variable is well within the expected ability of a person of ordinary skill in the subject art. In re

Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980), In re Aller, 220 F.2d 454, 105 USPQ 233 (CCPA 1955).

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants arguments regarding the 112-2nd para. rejection are not persuasive. In Applicant's own response, it is indicated that these values can change over time, thus supporting the Examiner's argument that they are not definite.

Regarding the rejection over Poole in view of McCulloch, the Applicant argues hindsight reasoning which is not persuasive since it must be recognized that any judgment on obviousness is in a sense necessarily a reconstruction based upon hindsight reasoning. But so long as it takes into account only knowledge which was within the level of ordinary skill at the time the claimed invention was made, and does not include knowledge gleaned only from the applicant's disclosure, such a reconstruction is proper. See In re McLaughlin, 443 F.2d 1392, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971).

Applicant also argues that McCulloch uses perchlorate and chlorates, this is irrelevant since McCulloch is being utilized merely to show that it is known to use ferrocene as a catalyst to improve burn rate and since Poole suggests that it is desirable to improve the burn rate, the combination is obvious. One cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
